Agents Identify the Wheel Found Near Reed Station—A tecedents of the Dead Robber-A Tramp's Story.

MARYSVILLE, March 31.-Sheriff Cunningham, ex-Marshall George Gard, Detective Thacker and the other officers who have been hunting up train-robber Mc-Guire, the murderer of Sheriff Bogard at the hold-up yesterday morning, left for San Francisco this afternoon, having reinformation that McGuire had passed through Sacramento. A special arrived today with hicycle agents from San Francisco, who had rented three bicycles to the men answering the descrip tion of the robbers. They identified the bicycle found near Reed station.

Information has been received that Jack McGuire worked in a livery stable at Sai The dead robber, Sam Mc-Guire, whose true name is supposed to be O. S. Brown, formerly worked in Holt' harvester works at Stockton. Both mer have been living at No. 305 Grove street San Francisco. When the robbers worked on ranches in this vicinity they always wore gloves when at work, which accounts for their soft hands.

The dead robber was identified by a man who stated he had frequently met Sam he had played cards. He had also met Jack McGuire frequently there. The de ectives believe that the McGuires and on other man left San Francisco on the trai with the bicycles, that they met on the day of the robbery near Feed and conealed the bicycles and the walked three miles to the scene of the robbery; that after the robbery Jack McGuire went brough Nicolaus to Sacro Tento, the other nan taking a different route.

A tramp who was riding a brake-beam under the train stated that there were four robbers, two remaining on the out-side, and two entering the cars. When the shooting commenced, he thinks one of the men outside entered the back of the car and shot Sheriff Bogard. The offithree men and are positive that the McGuire brothers are the men who at-tempted to rob a train at Ben All station just October, at which time the smaller man said: "Come on, Sam."

Jack McGuire worked last sum ranch at Dry Creek, where some of his clothes were found by the officers, who are confident that the surviving McGuire will be found in San Francisco or a Stockton, where he is well known. HIDING ON THE HAGGIN GRANT.

Six Persons Perish Up to Date in the Forest Fires.

CINCINNATI (O.,) March 31 .- The Com mercial Gazette specials from points in Western Kentucky and Southern Indiana report that the forest fires are still raging, but definite information from any lo callty is lacking. The loss is estimated at $200,060 in Kentucky and less in Indiana. Dispatches from Bowling Green, Ky., say that eight miles from there the homes of Otis Smith, James Waters and Henry Eile were burned after 400 acres of timber were swept away. The families mounter horses and escaped. Henry Eiler is so badly burned that he will die and a negro farmhand perished in bed on Eiler's farm.
At Anetta and Blowtown large tracts of timber were burned. William Edwards, colored, was burned to death while fighting the fire.

Since the burning of James V. Penny's house, yesterday in Indiana, his wife ha been missing and is now believed to have perished. In Clark county, Indiana, the farms of Bates and Weber were burned farms of Bates and weer were burned over, causing a loss of $20,000. The death of Eller and the two negroes and that of Mrs. Penny, in addition to those reported proviously, make three whites, two ne-groes and one woman lost.

handle was wrecked about a mine east of here this morning, and four men were seriously if not fatally injured.

John Wilson, aged 25, a barber, living at Tuscarawas; Oscar Hurzey, aged 19, son of Squire Hurzey, postmaster at Booth; William Mercer and Willis Berkshire, both of the latter place, all walked three miles to Ulrichsville to catch a train for Newcomerstown. The men stood on the end sill of a car, about midway of the train. As the train approached the siding to pull in for the limited, the engineer found he was running at a high rate of speed and made an emergency stop. The force broke a car-coupling just in front of the one the men were on, and they were allowed to drop almost into the jaws of death.

Wilson had a bad face and scalp wounds beside internal injuries, which make his recovery hopeless. Berkshire suffered the loss of both legs below the knees. He took off his coat, wrapped it around his several limbs and laid down to await surject aid or to die. Mercer had a shoulder badly crushed and has internal injuries, the severity of which cannot be told yet. Hurzey's right arm was broken in two places. Berkshire and Wilson will die.

THE EAST AND GOLD. Free Coinage Not Seriously Considered Says Chauncey Depew.

speciated Press Leased-wire Service.

CHICAGO, March 31.—In an interview with the reporter of the Record, Chauncey M. Depew on the silver question said:

M. Depew on the silver question said:

"The question of free coinage is not taken seriously in the Eastern States. It is not mentioned in politics; it is not discussed in the papers. I will venture to say that 99 per cent. of the people in the East are in favor of the gold standard without any apologies. Where the ques-tion of silver coinage is thought about, it is merely that it is all right for one to take it up as a hobby if he has time. I de not wish to be bigoted in reviewing situation, because I know that in the South the sentiment is very largely unani-mous for adopting the silver basis, and the West also clamors for the same end. But it remains true that the East does not at tach much importance to this fact, nor do our people expect any serious step toward the change.

"The Democrats will have to make stagger at indorsing free silver to hold old Democratic States, but it will not be constitutional. The Republicans will steer clear of the question. Either party, it is safe to say, will only treat the matter so far as politics may demand to hold their old strength and keep the wind from the sails of a third party." "But some of the party leaders have declared for the restoration of silver to its onetary function?" "None of them mentioned the fact while they were candidates. Nothing but a miracle can wrest triumph from the Reublican party."

Greetings to the Iron Chancellor.

Bismarck's Birthday in Full Swing.

The German People at Home and Abroad Shower Him with Congratulations.

King Oscar of Sweden Sends a Grace ful Expression of Interest-"Commers" at Hamburg-Freidrichsruhe Gay.

FRIEDRICHSRUHE, March 31 .- (By At antic Cable.) The Bismarck celebration is in full swing, and every day seems to add to the enthusiasm displayed by the German people in the anniversary of the old Chancellor. Every train arriving at Friedrichsruhe is loaded with presents for the aged statesman, and every post brings hundreds of congratulatory letters, not only from people in Germany, but from Germans and others throughout the civilized world.

Thousands upon thousands of Bismarck postcards have been sold, and a great number have been mailed to the United States. Those in Germany who have received them have put them care fully away to be preserved as memorial: of the Iron Chancellor and the great putpouring of the public heart in his honor.

Nothing preventing, it is believed that omorrow the actual anniversary of the Prince's birthday will witness such a popular demonstration as has not been witnessed since the return to Berlin of the conquering armies from France. Every preparation has been made to accor the vast crowds.

The decoration of the station has been meluded and the roadway from the sta tion to the Schloss has been transforme by willing hands into a veritable triumph arcade A beautiful work of art is the gift of enhabitants of Anhalt, "who took up the subscription for the purpose, and which has been erected in a field overlook ing the Prince's home. The work, which is in bronze, represents a large stag keep ing two dogs at bay. For the first time since the beginning of the celebration in his honor. Prince Bismarck on Saturday was somewhat fatigued and indisposed. his old trouble, neuralgia, affecting hi slightly. A good night's sleep, however restored his health and spirits, and today he was as bright as ever.

Thousands of visitors arrived today, hop ing that they might get a glimpse of the Prince. Quite a fair has been established in the vicinity of the station. Refreshment pooths have been erected, and here and there and everywhere were itinerant pur-veyors of Bismarckian cards, medals, portraits and mementos of every description Quite a thriving trade was done. During the afternoon the sky became overcast and then followed a little shower, but the rain did not serve to dampen the ardor of the sight-seers and crowd which sur rounded Biemarck's residence, hoping the they might get a glimpse of the Prince.

Today the Prince received his first cor gratulatory telegram from a crowned head outside of Germany. It was from King Oscar of Sweden, and contained a grace-ful expression of His Majesty's interest the Prince's welfare and longevity.

THE "COMMERS" AT HAMBURG. HAMBURG, March 31.-One of the fee tures of the Bismarck celebration here was the holding last night of the tors' Union, at which 1000 admirers of the Prince were present and hundreds had to be turned away from the doors owing to the lack of room. Several Senators, the president of the House of Burgesses, offiers and the elite of Hamburg society were larity has been greatly increased here by his graceful attitude toward the Prince. Today all the public and a majority of the private buildings in the city were dec-orated with flags and bunting in honor of the occasion. Tonight there was a general illumination on a scale that has not been attempted before in a quarter of a century. In the window of every shop there was displayed either a wreathed portrait or bust of the great Chancellor. In addition, some of the windows contained historic scenes and portraits of Emperor William. Photographs of the Em-peror and Prince Bismarck are being sold in large numbers. The event of tonight was a "commers" at which fifty-nine corps and every Ger-man university was represented. The pro-ceedings were of the customary bolsterous character. Students sang songs, the singers being accompanied by a band. The view of the city tonight is a beautiful one. All the shipping in the harbor and the small boats on the canals of Hamburg were also illuminated. There was a grand display of fireworks. NEWSPAPER LEADERS.

NEWSPAPER LEADERS.

LONDON, March 31.—The Times has this dispatch from Berlin:

"With a few exceptions, the newspapers publish leaders on Prince Bismarck, accompanied by poetical effusions. They carefully refrain from any utterances calculated to injure the feelings of the German Gazette concludes a very sympathetic article with the words: 'As in the years before Prince Bismarck's work, so now also a large section of our people stand between hope and fear, asking themselves whether they are in the right path, and whether it will nead to a new rise and happy end or to decline and ruin. We have, however, an incalculable advantage in having learned of our strength. Every in having learned of our strength. Every, hour we can comfort ourselves by looking back on the past, which gives us the assurance that so long as our thoughts and actions are German and elevated, nothing can destroy, neither can an envious external enemy, nor an insidious internal foe. For all the services Prince Bismarck has performed for his King and country, before the magnitude of which services the tongue is dumb, we thank him today with the sinterest gratitude expressing that body's attisfaction at having co-operated with him, proceeds: Thanks to the policy directed by Your Screne Highness, the alliance of the Prince stands firm against the decomposing elements which never weary in the attempt to destroy the work of a glorious time. The Bundesrath knows it is with all patrious in the conviction that it was your farseeing vision that enabled the foundations of this success to be laid. The Federal Council will continue to the further completion of the imperial edifice on lines contemplated by Your Screne Highness, thereby discharging one part of the debt due to the statesmanlike achievements of due to the statesmanlike achie the first Chancelloc.

The new president and vice-president of the Reichstag, having formally announced their election to the Emperor, he has in-vited them, in addition to the customary audience tomorrow, to attend the imperial Bismarck banquet. His Majorty then re-membered that Bayon Bud Bosselver membered that Baron Buel Borenburg and Herren Schmidt and Spahn, respectively the Herren Schmidt and Spahn, respectively the president and vice-president, represent parties who refused to congratulate Prince Bismarck, and owe their election to that fact, but the invitation was not rescinded. The Emperor's action reads like a grim satire. At first it was regarded as a first of April joke. The national press cannot refrain from expressions of malicious joy at this turn of events. Herr Schmidt is Radical. He extricated himself from the dilemma by deckining the imperial invita-

The Socialists have now about dea of raising a discussion in the Reichstag on the Emperor's telegram to Prince Bismarck, after the Emperor learned of the Reichstag's action in refusing to delegate Herr von Levitzow to convey the con-

"As usual, I closed my store at 10 o'clock Saturday night and immediately started east along Santa Clara street for North Eleventh street, where I live. I started east along Santa Clara street for North Eleventh street, where I live. I accompanied Miss Basham, who is em-ployed in the store, to Ninth street, where she lives. passed me, going quite fast, almost on a run, and besides he looked at me rather sharply in passing.

"I kept on my way, and when I reached Eleventh street I saw three persons coming down toward Santa Clara, on the west side of the street where I had to pass along. It was quite dark, there being no electric lights near at hand, and at first I thought the parties might be a man and two ladies, but when I saw there were three men and noticed that nobody else was in sight, I began to get my knife ready for use it case I should have to defend myself. We met at a point on the pavement on the east side of Eleventh street, about forty-five feet above the Santa Clara-street pavement. I made a motion to get past them, but just then one of the men put his hands on my shoulder and began to grip me and force me down.

"As quick as I could. I gave the man mouton to get past them, but just then one of the men put his hands on my shoulder and began to grip me and force me down.

"As quick as I could, I gave the man a thrust with my knife. I am quite sure I struck him only once, but it seems that several more flesh-cuts have been found on the body. After I struck, I did not realize that I had hurt the man much, as he did not let go of me. At almost the same instant another man grabbed me by the neck from behind, and the two of them forced me on my back on the ground. The men did not say anything to me, or, perhaps, as I am somewhat deaf, I did not hear what they said. They might have told me to throw up my hands. After they got me down, the man that I had stabbed sat upon my stomach while the other man kept such a grip upon my throat that I was afraid he would choke me to death. He also wrenched my neck so that it hurt considerably afterwards. I could not yell on account of the pressure on my throat.

"As I fell down, I dropped my knife in the grass, thinking that If they saw it in my hand, they might take it from me and cut me with it. My pocket, in which I carried the sack containing the $15, was cut completely out and they disappeared with my money. I suppose that the wounded man ran until he came to that vacant lot, when he fainted from the loss of blood, or his companions dragged him into the lot to get him out of the way."

Last Friday the dead robber went to a pawnshop and sold a lot of carpenter's tools, which he had solen. He signed the register with the name of W. Cadnemyer.

"How true it is that history repeats th "How true it is that history repeats the same calumnies that were uttered against our Lord and Savior in His day. The same calumnies that were circulated against the primitive church are ventilated today against the church of God, its clergy and members. Let me give one instance out of thousands that I might bring forward to flüstrate the subject. The Catholic church is jealous of the honor and moral rectitude of her clergy, it is her constant aim that they should walk in innocence and blame of life. Whenever any of her clergy is known to have contracted any degrading habits in-Whenever any of her clergy is known to have contracted any degrading habits incompatible with his secred calling, he is withdrawn from the active pursuits of the ministry until he has given marks of reformation. The church has too much reverence for God; she has too much respect for the laity; she has too much respect for the clergy themselves to suffer an unworthy priest to minister at her al-

"But we find it very hard to please our enemies. They are very inconsistent. If we were to retain a general clergy or a republican ministry, they would point the finger of scorn at us and say: 'See how low is the mbral standard of the Catholic clergy?' If we dismiss one of them from the service of the altar they will forthwith pick up from the gutter and receive this failer angel with open arms. They will embrace him as a long-lost brother and take him to their bosom and lead him about like some strange animal and exhibit him to public gase.

"He is sure, of course, to misrepresent and malign the church. His masters are sure to dictate the subjects on which he is to speak, which are popular and attractive for the time being, such as the everlasting inquisition, patriotism, the confessional and the Pope. They affect to believe this man in his fall whom they would not hear when he was honored in the sanctuary. If it is a sin to tell a jocose lie, if it is a erime to calumniate ore's neighbor, how shall we characterize those who malign the largest body of Christians in the world?

The following are ex-officio delegates: The president, secretary and tressurer of the league; one vice-president and one the executive member of the national organization from each State and Territory and the president and secretary of each State and Territory and the president and secretary of each State and Territory league, making four exofficio delegates from each. This gives each State practically ten delegates-at-large in addition to the four from each Congress district. The total representation will exceed 2000 delegates, with an equal number of alternates.

The business of the meeting will include reports from the officers of the league, the election of officers, vice-presidents and members of the Executive Committee for the ensuing, the designation of the time and place for the next convention, a general discussion of league-club work, party politics, the formation of a pian of campaign, with special reference to the Presidential year and a consideration of such other questions as the convention may deem proper. The utter failure of the Democratic administration in its management of both foreign and domestic affairs has created national distrust, general paralysis in business and driven capital from the factories and labor into the streets; reduced the revenues of the government and increased its borded incebedeness. This humilitating condition of national misfortunes has eliminated party linee moments, as indicated by the unprecedented landslide of 1894 which brought a large number of protection Democrats and Populists into the Republican ranks. JUMPED HIS BOND. Arrest of a Theatrical Manager on DENVER, March 31:—Otto C. Floto, the manager of the "Old Tennessee" company, has been arrested in this city state request of Detective Scott of Butte, Mont. The charge against Floto is perjury, and the claim is made that he jumped his bond when he left Butte. His trouble in Butte was the result of the warm contest which took place last fall in Montana over the proposed removal of the State capital from Helena to Anaconda. Floto is said to have registered too often. He was arrested and put under $1500 bonds. His trial was set for March 24, the officers say, and he was not there to appear.

Floto said be had been in Helena almost a year. Seeing an opportunity to make some money he organized the "Old Tennessee" company, and started upon a tour with the company. He went from Butte to Anaconda, Sait Lake and finally to Denver. He was much surprised, apparently, at being arrested. Floto has been somewhat prominent in sporting circles as a manager of pugilists.

NEBRASKA REJOICES.

OMAHA (Neb..) March 31.—Saturday night, Sunday and tonight rain or snow fell it nearly every county in Eastern and Northern Nebraska. A few spots in the central and western part of the State have not reported, but it is known that the moisture was distributed generally and almost generously, throughout the thickly-settled portions of the State. More timely rain never came, for the greatest anxiety was felt in reference to the prospects for the coming crop in Nebraska, and the lack of rain had given rise to apprehensions that already the conditions in the State were such that the outlook for an abundant crop was very dubious. the outlook for an abundant crop was very dubious.

In order that the exact situation might be known, the Bee has secured reports of the present condition throughout the State. Reports have been received from nearly every county in the State, which show that as yet there is no cause for the alarm that has been felt; that, in fact, the prospects are generally of the best.

In spite of the lack of rain, the reports endicate that in almost every section of Nebraska the soil is moist and in good condition for working and seed. There are a few exceptions to this general rule, but not enough to make the outlook at soil dubious. It is true that there is a great lack of moisture, but the report indicate that the ground is too dry for seeding, and that with the rain that came last night and what will follow in April and May, the crops will be in excellent condition. The acreage is reported to be an average one. In the central portion of the State the situation seems to be generally good.

Redington. Short addresses were made by D. W. Huntington of Iincoln, Neb., Rev. C. A. Dale, presiding elder of Holdredge; Rev. Duval of Hays county and Rev. C. C. Purcell of Perkins county.

Rev. Huntington in his appeal said that in the western part of Nebraska the people had not been able to raise any crops to speak of since 1889. At present, he said, no sign of vegetation exists and there are 150,000 people in need. They have been provided with clothing, but their greatest need is food. Upon suggestion of Rev. Bristol, a committee of eight was appointed to make a thorough canvass of the city, asking for help for the needy sufferers.

A MURDER MYSTERY

A Woman's Dismembered Remains Found.

Victim Had First Been Strangled and Then the Limbs Were Hacked Off.

Bloodstained Scrap of Paper the Only Clew—It Leads to a Fruitless Inquiry at Rah-way, N. J.

Associated Press Leases wire Service.

NEW YORK, March 31.—One of the most mysterious murders committed in this city since the mutilated body of "Old Shakespeare" was found in a low resort near the East River front, for whose butchery "Algerian Frenchy" is now serving a life sentence, was discovered today shortly after 6 o'clock in the morning. The victim in this case was a young colored woman whose disembered body was found wrapped in pieces of carpeting, partially hidden from view in the rear of the building of the New York Company, on the southwest corner of Sixth avenue and Waverly place. How long the remains had been lying there is not known. As yet the police have no clew to the person or persons who deposited the body there. Immediately upon the discovery of the crime the police-efficers were notified, and half a dozen of the best detectives were detailed to fathom the mystery.

The body was found almost at the same time by two men. One of them was Joseph Phillips, a young electrician, and the other was Patrolman Kasmire of the Mercer-atreet station. The bundle in which the remains were found was bound at each end with pieces of cloth, leaving the middle portion somewhat loose. Around her neck was tied in a double knot a long piece of cheese-cloth. This had then been tied across her breast with a strong piece of or them laid on the body with the foot toward the head, while the other was found underneath the body. Both members had been hacked off with a sharp ax or butcher's cleaver, pieces of ragged skin and fiesh were hanging from the disembered legs. The only clothing the woman had on was a chemise and chemisette of a struggle on the part of the woman. The deputy coroner was positive that the woman had been dead more than twenty-four hours. He said also that the woman had been a mother. The woman wore on the third finger of her right hand a plain gold ring, and on her left breast a porous plaster.

It is the opinion of the police that the woman is a member of that class of colored women who live on the streets running out of Sixth averue and gain their livelihood as women of the town. They make no attempt to explain the motive for the crime. No one of the name of Surindell could be found in Rahway, N. J.

The Green-Gallagher Mill.

The probabilities are that a cycling tour be held in this city in the near future.

Arrangements are now under way for such an event, to follow the San Jose meet at the latter end of the current month. Should they prove successful the Eastern racing men now at San Jose, will be seen here, and those at El Paso will be invited to participate. Among others who may be expected will be Otto Ziegler, Harbottle, Coulter, Baid, McDonald, May, Dirnberger, Maddox, Brown, Edwards, Osen, Jones, Davis, Delmas and Wells.

It is safe to predict that there will be at least twice as many contestants in the great Santa Monica road race this year as there were last, for present indications point to an entry list of 300. Where to Bag Big Game.

Henry Schwarts, the well-known-racing man, arrived in the city preserday from San Francisco. Mr. Schwarts is president of the association which will conduct the fleets races at Agricultural Park. The meeting will be managed under his direction, and as he is an old and experienced borseman it is certain to be a success.

Mr. Schwarts mays that when the meeting was projected he received.

r. Schwartz says that when the meeting projected he expected not more than undred horses to come here from Bay District track. Now he finds, besides the 100 horses from that longer any doubt as to the success of the event.

While the local club has been heavily handicapped since its organization, it has pluckily contended against all odds, and continued to hold its show every year with unvaried success. This year it is stronger numerically and financially than ever, and nothing which could be performed to insure a better show than any of its predecessors has been left undone.

As in the past, the local merchants have responded liberally to the call for special prizes, and it is safe to predict that the dogs exhibited will be the best lot ever shown in this part of the country.

G. L. Waring, who officiated at the last show, will judge the St. Bernards, mastiffs, great Danes, deerhounds, bull terriers and fox terriers, and A. C. The Arizona stable, with its star contribution and Mr. Jingle, will leave San Francisco shortly. Bridges is coming down with severa good ones. The Pescador stables will have five or set horses to compete in the stakes and overnight events. The famous Dan ("White Haa") McCarthy, the proprietor of the Pleasanton stable, and chum of Lord Tabbot Clifton, will send down Capt. Coater, Blizzard, Mutineer and seven others some time next week. White & Clark will put in an appearance with five performers hard to beat. They have, among others, Whitestone, Clara White and Capt. Reese. W. L. Appleby will ship the crack Theima and nine others, while H. D. Brown, who will officiate as starter during the meeting, will send down Steadfast and a few more. These represent only a few of the owners who are going to race their horses here. They will be coming in all next week. The Pescador stables will have norses here. Iney will be coming in an east week.

Mr. Schwarts says that if the meeting is a success the meeting will be continued for a week or two longer.

The Gentlemen's Riding Club is taking a great interest in the meeting, and its members are anxious to have the management arrange a few pony races.

They are desirous of entering and riding their steeds in a few half-mile races. The races will, in all likelihood, be arranged. Secretary Benjamin has been written to in regard to the matter, and as he is known to favor gentlemen's races, the Los Angeles public is more than likely to see some of its representative citizens transformed into jockeys, and riding for the purses or trophles offered by the management.

Mr. Schwarts said last evening that he favored the proposition and would be delighted to arrange a pony race. He offers to hang up a $200 purse or any kind of a trophy they should select if they wish to race and ride their own ponies. Mr. Schwarts does not favor the idea of making the race exclusively for members of the Gentlemen's Riding Club, as Lord Taibot Clifton, the presiding genius at Burlingame, will be here, as well as young Tobin and other well-known members of that organization. "Why," said Mr. Schwartz, "if Lord Clifton comes down here he would go crazy if he could not get into a gentleman's riding or pony race. About eight bookmakers will quote odds on the horses. Then there will be auction pools sold, and also Paris mutuals. From this it would appear that the hetting men will have no trouble getting their money on their choices. Riley Grannan, the famous plunger, will book, and so will Walter, Howell, White & Clark, Phil Archibald, well-known Easterners, who bet thousands; also Black & Co., and Durkee & Pitzgerald of this city.

Another feature of the meeting will be the chance that is given the Los Angeles race-goers to see such crack Jockeys as Wille Flynn, Russell, Coombs, Johnny Webber, Chevaller, Sullivan, Burns and a lot of others ride. Coombs will ride the Spreckels horses. Besides the crack Cadmus, Candid, Bridal Veil, Pat Murphy, Gallant, Headflower, Pique, Lucile, Rumble, there are twelve others into the string to be raced in the over-night events.

the string to be raced in the over-night events.

A free purse will be offered by the managers every day. That means that owners will have a chance to win a good purse without paying any entrance money. This is favored greatly by horsemen, and has encouraged many to send horses here.

Preparations are now being made at Agrieultural Park for the coming La Fiesta races. Since the runners have put in an appearance it was determined to harrow up a portion of the track, so as to permit of their taking the necessary preliminary work without incurring any soreness.

So many requests for stalls have been received since the entries closed that the directors of the park fear that they will have to build a lot of new ones to accommodate them.

Arrangements have been made with the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to run a number of trains from the river stations to and from the track. This arrangement is received with a great deal of favor, as it will obviate the necessity of those desiring to attend the races from hanging on to overcrowded street cars.

This will be the first American eight-oared crew to visit England and row in England's greatest regatta at Henley, although everal four-oared varsity and ameteur crews of this country have in past years competed in England, with varying success. It is peculiarly fitting that the Cornell coarsmen, who have won thirty-three successive victories and not suffered a single defeat in thirteen years, should cross the Atlantic by the only prominent steamship line flying the American flag. Everything connected with this trip will be American throughout—an American university crew composed entirely of Americans; coached by Charles E. Courtney, to row a distinctively American stroke, rowing in paper boats made only in America and rigged according to American ideas and carried to and from England in an American line of steamships.

"Harvard was then playing in the league with Wesleyan, the University of Pennsylvania, Yale and Princeton," said Mr. Allen. "In that year, 1884, the great Harvard had a come-down in defeat by the little college of Wesleyan that prompted the faculty, evidently as sore as any of the students at the defeat, to raise a cry of brutality and to adopt a set of resolutions against intercollegiate football. Harvard had a hard pumishment last fall, and again, there is a great cry over the brutality of football. I think Harvard will not play football next year. Whatever the faculty says goes."

The Green-Gallagher Mill.

The chief topic under discussion among local lovers of the manly art is the twenty-five round go between Billy Gallagher of this city and George Green, alias "Young-Corbett," of San Francisco, which is booked for the night of April 16 next. Both men are quietly, but punctiliously, getting into trim for this event, which promises to eclipse any previous contest of the kind ever held in Southern California. Gallagher has made a host of friends during the two years of his service as boxing instructor for the Los Angeles Athletic Club. His recent performances show that he has greatly improved since he came to this city, and as he always was a strong fighter, there are plenty of his admirers who are willing to pin their faith to him. Green is practically an unknown quantity down here, but up in San Francisco he is considered one of the most scientific and clever men in his class. He is, however, said to be handicapped by his inability to finish. However this may be, the fact remains that Gallagher has undertaken a contract by no means so, easy of fulfilment as it appears to be, and those who hold his opponent at a low estimate are apt to regret it after seeing the mill.

ford, last year. The gate proceeds on the first day were 1944, the highest amount ever taken in one day in a cricket match in Yorkshire. On Tuesday the receipts were 1560, and on Wednesday, for two hour's play, the takings were 155—making a total of some_11570, received from upward of 48,000 persons for the three days. This sum was considerably augmented by public and private subscriptions, and it is estimated that the popular player ultimately realized fully £2200. Pilling, a Lancashire professional, is said to have received at one of his benefit matches nearly £1500. Professionals frequently receive the proceeds of benefit matches, but it is said that one of Surrey's next season's fixtures will be a match for the benefit of their renowned amateur player, W. W. Read. first prize, and the race committee of the Los Angeles Wheelmen will soon announce some other big prizes.

Considerable interest is being taken by local riders in the Pasadena road-race, which is set for Monday next, and almost all the racing men in this city have signified their intention to participate. Among the prizes there will be a Crimson Rim special for time prize, and a ladies' Crescent for first place.

From present indications over a thousand bicycles will be sold in this city alone this year. This is as much as one-third of all that were received in California last year.

in the history of the mare, but it was useless.

"One night the mare ran away, and when they caught her she was badly injured. I bought her for about $400 and had her legs all fixed and drove her for three or four years on the road. I have driven many a fast horse, but she had more git-up-and-qit about her than any animal I ever saw. She would see a buggy half a mile shead of her on the road and would dance and prance until I gave her head, and when she got alongside she would go five miles further, if needed, to pass her rival, but that was never necessary. I brought her to California and bred her to Inca. The issue was a modest little filly, which I never had worked for speed. I think, however, she will be a second Beautiful Bells."

FLOATS WILL BE ILLUMINATED AT NIGHT WITH GASOLINE.

Prospective Participants in the Pa rades Should Notify the Commit-tee—Handling the Crowd at the Tribunes.

The subject of illuminating the floats for the Wednesday night pageant of the flests has been a cause of much planning by the Artistic Committee. It was thought for a while that it would be possible to use the street-car trolley system for supplying incandescent illumination, but it was finally given up. It has been the experience of New Orleans, Kansas City and St. Louis in their night pageants. experience of New Orleans, Kansas City and St. Louis, in their night pageants, after trying all kinds of illuminants, that gasoline torches and reflectors have given the most brilliant effects, and are the best adapted for the purpose. It was, therefore, decided to adopt this form of float illumination, in addition to the fireworks features, and arrangements have been made to this effect. This form of illumination can be depended upon, and there will be no righty of the light Humination can be depended upon, and there will be no giving out of the light as is, frequently the case where other agents are used.

The Wednesday night pageant will not alone consist of the Pageant of the Pacific, but of many other divisions, and will prove very brilliant.

One of the greatest difficulties with which the Floral Committee is meeting is the tardiness of intending participants in the pageant of El Dia de las Flores, in motifying them of their intention. The committee has heard of numerous citizens who are arranging to have decorated vein the pageant of his Da de iss Faores. The committee has heard of numerous citizens who are arranging to have decorated vehicles and displays, but they have not made their entries. It is necessary that they should do so, in order that the committee may systematize its work, and it is a matter necessitating but very little trouble to either drop a noise to Chairman John T. Griffith, or call at his office in the Potomac Block, No. 217 South Broadway. Intending participants must make their entries, that is one of the requirements before admission to the parade, so that entries may be put in their proper section and be furnished with the entry tickets, which must be displayed before they are entitled to compete for the long list of valuable prizes. The committee has adopted one rule, which will be acceptable to many exhibitors. While all the prizes have a cash value, any one who chooses to do so can elect to have the amount of the prize awarded put in a souvenir of the occasion. Mr. Rossenbaum of Pasadena has signified his purpose of contributing to the committee from his abunities. dena has signified his purpose of co uting to the committee from his dance of ficwers all that he can for the fleeta.

The handling of the sale of tickets for the fleeta entertainments and seats at Central Park has been placed entirely in the hands of L. Behymer, as well as the organization of the large corps of ushers will begin at his office, No. 120 South Spring street, at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Very thorough arrangements for this important work have been made, and it will be handled as in any well-regulated theater, even though the volume of business will be so large. There has never been in Los Angeles such an admirable plan for spectators of street pageants as that of the tribunes at Central Park. The scene will be a decidedly impressive one in itself, during the review of parades, when the seats on the four sides of the park are occupied by many thousands of people. By providing a thorough arrangement for reserving these seats, with competent ushers, so that those who pay for seats are certain of getting them without trouble, and with the low prices.

catch-as-catch-can, best three in five, the match to carry the championship of the United States as 158 pounds, the match to take place within three weeks. Dwyer also issued a challenge to meet any one man in the world at 158 pounds.

George Wilson, Cincinnati, the "deadbroke" pedestrian who is engaged in the task of walking to the four corners of the United States, arrived in Cleveland on Monday from Maine, twenty-four days ahead of schedule time. He reports cordial treatment and had roads. He is on his way to the northwest corner.

The well-known stallion Monbars, 2:1114, trotting, and 2:16% pacing, will come out this season at his original gait, the trot. He is now 6 years old, and is by Eagle Bird,dam Lady Maud, by Gen. Knox, and was one of the phenomenal two-year-olds of his year. His owner is sanguine that he will trot very close to the champion stallion record.

A sensation was caused in Boston athletic circles last week by the announcement that several champion amateur athletes will become professionals. They are: T. F. Hat Ha! He! He! Sweet and sour.

Hat Ha! Say, you know those ass I have been adding about the old gentleman's 24% acres; well. I'm just having lots of fun over that piece of property; there has been about a baker's dozen of men here looking into that; all like it, and several thinking seriously of taking it, but let me tell you, my friends, many come but few are chosen. No, that ain't what I mean; I mean one chosen and many left; and the letters I receive about that property from persons wanting to exchange and some of the most ridiculous propositions that would make a horse laugh: others good exchange, but the old gent will consider no exchange unless Interest of the control of the control

THE CHURCHES.

They All Had a Good Turnout Yesterday.

Rev. Will A. Knighten Preached a Spicy Sermon That Made a Sensation.

eginning a Series of Revival Meetings at the Christian Church— Sunday-school Temperance Bally—Sermon Notes.

Rev. Will A. Knighten, pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, preached again last evening on the social evil and saloon question. In his sermon he took the position that people whose homes have been damaged by the pres-ence of the social evil near them are not "impracticable" in protesting against ta continuance.

"Is it right," he said, "for ten rich mer in another part of the city to place these houses of prostitution on their property next to the homes of the poor men, and next to the homes of the poor men, and then say it is "impracticable" to remove them?

"Is the statesman a practicable man who was elected to carry forward the purposes of his constituency a practicable man who ignores the petition of these injured property-owners?"

Referring to the remarks made by the Mayor and President Teed of the City Council to the effect that the social avil was a family skeleton which ough to to be aired, the speaker said: "If there is a skeleton on earth which needs airing its this one."

He went on to declare that the social to be aired, the speaker said: "If there is a skeleton on earth which needs airing its this one."

He went on to declare that the social evil had been maintained by the city authorities against the wishes of thousands of people. Its maintenance had virtually become a tyranny. "Is the Eastern tourist blind," said he referring to the argument that the public agitation of the question is like airing a family skeleton, "when he can see those rows of cribs along a mile of the railway as he rides into the city? "The investigation was the only remedy for the evil in the case of the Lexow Committee in New York. The skeleton there was not covered under the pretext that to agitate the question would hurt the reputation of the city. The blanket was removed and the investigation was held with the result so well known." "The social evil is so notorious in this city that I cannot advertise it. This question has been under discussion here for nine years."

The speaker remarked that he would like to have the evil distributed and give the people a chance to have the benefit, if such there be, of it in the Fifth Ward, on Nob Hill, in the Bonnie Brae tract and other parts of the town. Some of the people in those portions of the city are as bad, or worse, than any in other parts of the city, only they have a way of shoving the worst part of their doings onto the Eighth Ward.

"The people," he said, "who are building those cribs for $300 apiece, and are rending them at the rate of $40 or $50 per month, and, who in doing so are trespassing upon the State law, and acting involution of the principles of honesty and morality, are the Shylocks of our community. I have more respect for the poorest of these women than for the Shylock who profits from their sin. The poor harlot will get into heaven away ahead of them."

harlot will get into neaven away aneau them."

Mr. Knighten called attention to the fact that it had been charged proper sympathy was not shown for the fallen women. In reply, he stated that the movement to get them off from Alameda street was in the interest of the homes and families of people endeavoring to live decent and respectable lives in that locality.

and families of people endeavoring to live decent and respectable lives in that locality.

Taking up the saloon question the speaker said it was strange the authorities could not discover that saloons were being kept open Sundays when he (Knighten) could see it almost without getting off from a car. He did not like the license ordinance, but as a means of restricting the liquor traffic it seemed in some respects to be the best thing that could be done.

What he did object to, however, was the violation of law. There had been passed a Sunday-closing ordinance, and it ought to be observed or repealed. If the liquor ordinance could not be enforced, perhaps it would be better to repeal the present laws covering the question and enact a new law whereby the saloons would be thrown open and the saloon-keepers would be held responsible for the actions of the men who became intoxicated from diquor served by them.

In conclusion the speaker said that he responsible for the actions of the men who became intoxicated from ilquor served by them.

In conclusion the speaker said that he understood the question of the abolition of the social evil from Alameda street had been referred to a committee for the purpose of "killing" it, and this certainly ought not to be done with the petition that had been presented.

If the authorities could not be made to act, the question could be made an issue of the next municipal campaign and a strong effort would be made to elect officials who would do their duty.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH. FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

The spirit of revival is permeating the First Christian Church of this city. In answer to a request from his congregation the pastor, Bev. A. C. Smither, on yesterday morning began a series of meetings which will run through the week, there being preaching each evening at 7:45 o'clock. On yesterday morning the pastor preached upon "The Commission of Christ," Math. 28:18-20. This, said the speaker, is the last command ever given by Christ, and because of its significance, deserves attention at the hands of the world.

by Christ, and because of its significance, deserves attention at the hands of the world.

One is struck with the comprehensiveness of this commission. Its power arose from the fact that Jesus had all power in heaven and upon earth. This purpose covered no less a territory than the whole world, all nations were to be evangelized. They were not only to be converted to Christ, but were commanded to observe all things commanded by Him; and in this support while doing this they were promised the abiding presence of Christ always. No such command was ever before given, no such conception ever before entered the mind of man.

The method of this evangelization is equally interesting. Silently and powerfully the followers of Christ were commanded to "go into all nations." Then they were to teach, make disciples of all nations; and when men had been taught of Christ and were willing to accept Him, they were to be baptized by His authority into the name of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. After entering upon this new jelationship of Christ they were to observe all things taught the world through Christ. Such were the reuqirements of Christ made upon those who should accept Him.

The obligation to obey this commission rests upon every follower of Christ. Each Christian is a missionary who is to aid in the great work of bringing men to the foot of the cross. By the work of Christian is a missionary who is to aid in the great work of bringing men to the foot of the cross. By the work of Christian is a missionary who is to aid in the great work of bringing men to the foot of the cross. By the work of Christian is a missionary who is to aid in the great work of bringing men to the foot of the cross. By the work of Christians the race is leavened with good.

There were several accessions. At the evening service the conversion of the jailor was considered. Mrs. Sherwood sang most delightfully at both services. This evening the subject of the sermon is "Reconciliation," and Dr. Worth will sing. Y. W. C. A.

The gospel meeting at 3:45 at No. 107

North Spring street, was well attended. It was of absorbing interest to all who were present and listened to Miss Malmberg, the Swedish misienary, who told the story of her life.

There was a song service at the beginning, after which Mrs. Matthews read the 1st Psalm and offered prayer. "O Could I Speak the Matchless Truth," was sung.

Miss Malmberg then spoke and pressed the pleasure it gave her to appear before the association. She spoke of the close relationship with God that it was our privilege to enjoy and the work we should do. "Nothing is so great as to de something for another soul," the speaker said, and all who heard herearnest, simple, pathetic story felt the truth of the statement. All the joy of knowing intimately the will and plan of God. might belong to those who would seek to know it, to those who would seek to know it, to those who would receive the spirit of God sent to comfort us when Christ left the earth. As the betrothed bride of Christ were we to walk upon the earth doing His will until our service here should end. Miss Malmbers told of the preparations of a Christian. The lamp, which is the Bible, the dress, and the armor. Of God's love for his servants here, and how in Isalah 49-16. He says, "Behold, I have graven thee upon the paims of my hands; thy walls are continually before me." In return for this wonderful relation with the eternal God were we putting on Christ to the world?

this wonderful relation with the eterpal God were we putting on Christ to the world?

Miss Malmberg spoke of herself as a poor little Swedish girl tending the sheep for her father on the far-off mountains of Sweden. With little opportunity to study or improve, but with some knowledge of the Bible, and what was better, a burning desire to know more of the Bible, of sacrifices and efforts to secure this knowledge, of her coming to America. her hardships as a stranger and then her success in reaching finally the desire of her heart and gaining in the training-schools of Chicago the knowledge of the Bible that makes it possible for her to prosecute her beloved work. A source of encouragement had been the words of the late Dr. Gorfon, "Do not ever say no' to God."

"Blest be the Tie That Binds," was sung when Miss Malmberg had finished. Miss Morse said that this might be a beginning point for many who had listened of a better work, so deeply were all impressed with the simple devotion of Miss Malmberg. The Christian Endeavor benediction closed the service.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL RALLY.

A targe and interested audience was gathered in Simpson Tabernacle yesterday afternoon, at a Sunday-school raily, under the auspices of the City Sunday-school Union. The programme was opened with missic, follewed by a prayer by Rev. Dr. McClean, and remarks by Rev. A. W. Rider. Mrs. E. Stephens Matthews of England was then introduced and spoke earnestly regarding the three-fold piedge, against liquor, tobacco and profansity, and said that bodies are the temples of God, and must be kept pure, and this piedge is a safe guidance all through life. It was clasimed that the tobacco habit is a terrible curse, and is the first step in the downward course. Mrs. Matthews gave much good advice to both the boys and girls, and said that woman's influence had a great deal to do with making a white life for two. The speaker closed with a prayer that the cours would free the country from the Hquor traffic and all its resulting evils. Hon. T. W. Brotherton followed with a few remarks upon the same line of thought, and said that the formation of the habits during the first twenty years of life control the destiny of the immortal soul ever after, and that the tobacco habit is one method of taking poison into the system. He stated that he believed in total abstinence in all these things, and quoted from the Bible to prove them wrong. The audience then sang heartily the hymn "America," which was followed by an eddress by Rev. A. C. Bane, who said if God had intended us to smoke, He would have provided us with a smokestack, and he believed that it was a vicination of God's intention to either smoke or drink. H tobacco were labeled the poison that it really is, nobody would touch it; it produces the most awful results, and is spicified by plecemeal, and is a filthy and expensive habit. Four hundered and fifteen million seven hundred and forty-five thousand deliars were spent for tobacco in 1894 in the United States. Swearing in an enreasonable and unmeaning thing,

The occasion was Dr. Chichester's first public appearance since his return from the East, and, as he came upon the pulpit platform, the whole congregation arose and remained standing for several moments in appreciation of their pastor's safe return. The doctor looked unusually well and preached with his accustomed vigor and force. His subject was: "An absent pastor's prayer for his beloved flock," from Ephesians iii, 14-19. He spoke with great tenderness upon such points as Christian stability, the indwelling of the Divine Christ and the possibility of being filled with the Divine fullness. The sermon was one of great spiritual power and made a marked impression. At the close of the service hundreds of the doctor's friends pressed forward to give their pastor a personal welcome. The floral decorations were very beautiful and artistic, and there was a special musical programme by the choir.

UP-TO-DATE ENGLISH TRAMWAY CAR.

A School Danger—What a Soldier Can Carry — Recording Orders on Board Ship.

NEW YORK, March 23, 1895.-(Special Correspondence.) Although the horse car is still the only means of public travel is many English cities, it has been greatly improved within the last few years. In fact, the up-to-date English horse can can give many points to our own lates electric cars. A Bristol company has made an addition to its plant of rolling stock which embodies several innovations worelectric cars. A Bristol company has made an addition to its plant of rolling stock which embodies several innovations worthy of imitation. Spiral springs of special design are used, and the motion of the car is hardly felt. The car is filled with a white light, which enables the passengers to read newspapers with ease. Although oil is used, its maximum efficiency is brought out by the use of a reffector of white enameled iron, which is found to be greatly superior for car lamps to glass reflectors. The car is fitted with life protectors made of spring steel, which are placed close to each wheel, and within an inch of the rail. They have been in use more than a year, during which several persons have fallen on the rails. Had the protectors not been in use, the accidents would in every case resulted in death or serious injury; but in each instance the protector pushed the person off the rails, or kept him rolling along until the car was stopped. The car is perfectly ventilated by apertures at each end which allows free access of air without causing the slightest draught. The supply of air can be reduced by a sliding partition. In the English car the roof is fitted up with seats, which are much used by women and children. Heretofore it has often been a difficult thing to call the attention of the conductor when it was desired to stop the car. On the Bristol line a signal is fixed at each end of the car roof, so that passengers can immediately bring the car to a atandstill by pressing a knob, and thus ringing a beil below. The English street railroad companies suffer great loss in receipts during rainy weather for want of diffusion rainy weather for want of diffusion in whiter, as outside cars and 'busses. The loss is possible greater in summer than in winter, as outside riding is more induiged in during warm weather, but corn in winter there is always a large proportion of hardy Britishers who prefer to brave the elements if they can find a dry place to sit on. A partial remedy has been attempted in the provision

A SCHOOL DANGER.

The old slate and pencil have been banished from many American public schools by the school committee. The three reasons furnished in the report of the Committee on Hygiene and Physical Training are as follows: (1) A slight gray mark upon a slightly darker gray service is more or less indistinct, and therefore trying to the eyesight; (2) the resistance of the hard pencil upon the hard slate is tiring to the muscles, and the resistance to which the muscles are trained by the use of slates and slate pencils must be overcome when beginning to write with pencil or pen upon paper; (3) and last, but not deast, the use of slates, slate pencils and sponges is a very uncleanly custom and leads to and establishes very uncleanly habits. So, in place of the old-style slate and pencil, we now have the paper, lead pencil and rubber for school use. A contemporary points out that there is as good ground for apprehending the formadion of uncleanly habits with paper and lead pencil as with hard slate and slate pencil, and the microbe is quite as likely to take refuge in dirty paper as in dirty slates. Another source of danger is the surreptitious loaning and exchanging of these pencils, which it is almost impossible to prevent absolutely. There is one point of supreme importance in all these expurgating contrivances and sanitary schemes that is to generally left out of consideration; that is, that the teachers of children are as much in duty bound to incufcate cleanly habits in children and hence to enforce sanitary rules of individual conduct, as to teach reading, writing and arithmetic. It naturally belongs to the morals of the business of teaching.

A DISTRIBUTING CART FOR ROAD CONSTRUCTION.

A most useful cart has been designed for distributing broken stone for building or repairing roads. The cart is mounted as the construction of the complete and is an experienced as the construction of the construction of the cart slopes downward to the back and the tail-board is hinged at its upper edge. The movement of the lower edge and consequent width of opening is controlled by two adjusting chains and steel wings, which are attached to the sides of the cart at the tail-board, spread with stone the full width between the wheels. The cart can be tilted at any desired angle, by means of a rack and pinion, and held there, and this is found to be a great convenience in loading. As the etone rolls from the rear of the cart it is leveled by a scraper attached to the bottom of the tail-board, which can be specially adjusted, according to the necessities of the road. This adjustment permits of the etone being pread thicker on one side than the chher, or of an extra thickness of stone being laid at the middle, as is usually required. The discharge can be regulated so as to cover a strip only that as wide as the cart, if need be. The art is made in two sizes, to be hauled by two or three horses, respectively, the horrers being harnessed abreast. The smaller size is five feet wide, has a capacity for one and one-half cubic yards of stone, and weighs 250 pounds, when empty. The larger size is seven feet, six inches wide and mounted on a three-inch axie.

WHAT A SOLDIER CAN CARRY.
In accordance with the instruction of the German Minister of War, Prof.
Zuntz and Staff-surgeon Schumberg have made a series of experiments with regard to the weight that can be carried by soldiers on the march. Five students of a public institute volunteered as subjects for the two doctors, and always undertook their marches in full-marching order. The marches were all of the same length, viz., 24.75 kilometers (15 miles 82 yards.) the weight carried was varied, viz., 22.37 and 31 kilogrammes (48.25 pounds, 59.25 pounds and 63.1-5 pounds.) The tests resulted as follows: (1.) It was found that, with 48 pounds and a moderate temperature, the man could march the required distance, and even further, without any distress or ill-effects whatever. In very hot and close weather silght inconveniences, such as very profuse perspiration, high pulse and hurried breathing, were experienced, but these soon disappeared when the march was over. No llieffects remained the next day, so that such marches could easily be undertaken several days in succession. (2.) With the next weight (59.2-5 pounds.) during favorable weather, no ill-effects ensued, but in hot weather fatigue was produced, which was felt until the next day, so that the second day's march was begun underworse conditions than that of the first day, (3.) With the third weight (55.1-5 pounds,) the ill-effects produced were decided. The tests gave distinct and definite results. It was found that several days' practice with the lightest burden (43 2-5 pounds,) caused the carrying of it and the marching with it to become continually more easy and convenient, whereas practice with the heaviest burden reduced the inconvenience in hardly any degree. Many facts were established which will undoubtedly lead to modifications in certain details of heavy-marching drill. In order to insure the certainty of the results obtained, the experiments were repeated with several Landwehr and Reserve men, some of them were out of military training, while others were in active service. The reports given agreed with that on the institute students in every particular.

RECORDING ORDERS ON BOARD SHIP.

A new invention for use on shipboard is a patent recorder. This machine is attached to the indicator posts of steam vessels for recording indelibly and at once every order as it is given by the master from the, bridge to the engineer below. While in no way interfering with the action of the indicators now in use, it acts as a silent and accurate witness and recorder of every action of the indicator. This device consists of a drum, which revolves once in twelve hours, the motive nower being supplied by an eight-day clock. Around the drum is placed a chart, which is renewed at 8 a.m. for the day watch and 8 p.m. for the night watch. Printed within horizontal lines, which run the whole length of the chart, is a column of all the words of command. The chart is divided and subdivided into hours, quarters, and single minutes by vertical lines, and as the space alloted to each minute measures one-eighth inch, the eye can easily subdivide this into smaller fractions of time. Reating on the chart is a metallic pencil which is connected by a simple mechanism with the existing indicators in such a way that it is moved up and down by the action of the indicator. The practical operation of the recorder on the chart is three-fold; the precise moment at which he signal bell rang is shown; also the time at which each order was given and what that order was; also how long each order remained in force without alteration.

This bill has recently been reported without recommendation. The presumed object of the report is to collect and define the information that has been gathered on the subject of aerial navigation. The report says: "It may seem somewhat visionary to seriously entertain the idea of navigating the air safely, since afforts in this direction have been in most instances failures;" still the committee maintains that the solution of the problem will result in one of the greatest social, economical and industrial revolutions in the history of mankind, and will have the greatest possible influence in the civilization of the world. Those who have followed and can appreciate the work that is being done in this direction in England by Hiram S. Maxim, realize that the problem of aerial navigation has not only passed beyond the visionary stage, but has been successfully solved.

The Journeymen Plumbers' Union held another secret session yesterday afternoon. The members are as close-mouthed as clams in regard to the proceedings, but it is understood that the wage question was the subject under consideration, and that it was decided to stand firm for the present scale—$4 a day for eight hours' work.

Twenty-one of the leading master plumbers gave notice about ten days ago that wages would be reduced to $3 a day on April 1. Six of these firms served final motice on their employees Saturday night that they coold come back to work Monday morning at the $7 rate. If they were not willing to work on those terms their places would be declared vacant and new men employed.

WALT WHITMAN.

UNTIL DEATH.

Make me no vows of constancy, my friend, To love me, though I die, the whole lifelons And love no other till thy days shall end— Nay, it were rash and wrong.

It would not make me sleep more peacefully
That thou wert wasting all thy life in woe
For my poor sake. What love thou hast for me Bestow it ere I go! Carve not upon a stone when I am dead
The praises which remorasful mourners give
To women's graves—a tardy recompense—
But speak them while I live.

Heap not the heavy marble on my head To shut away the sunshine and the dew Let small blooms grow there, and let gra wave, And raindrops filter through.

Thou wilt meet many fairer and more gay
Than I; but, trust me, thou canst never fin
One who will love and serve thee night and day
With a more single mind.

Forget me when I die! The violets
Above my rest will blossom just as blue.
Nor miss thy tears—e'en Nature's self forge
But while I live be true!

A curious instance of how phrases are spread by school books is shown in the last number of Dr. Murray's Dictionary. No earlier authority could be found for the term "black death," describing the plague that devastated Europe in the four-teenth century, that Mrs. Markham's celebrated histories for young persons, which first appeared in 1836.

It is claimed that the starting is on of the very best of the feathered friends of the English farmer in keeping certain insects in check.

Sir Edward Gray's statement in the House of Commons about the financial policy on the Upper Nile had the effect of weakening international stocks. Spanish bonds were fairly sold, as a result of the Cabinet crisis in Madrid and the Cuban troubles. Paris sold all international stocks rather heavily in order to obtain money to invest in mines.

The business in the mining-share market has at last become so heavy that it caused a break-down in the clearing-house arrangements. It is quite evident that the commission is hound to do something to cope with the boom. Canadian railway securities showed a better tone. And the McKinley Bill in Georgia.

The Governor's Candidacy is Forging Ahead in the Sunny South.

Protection is to be His War Cry-Joseph Medill on the Scene— The "Battle of Thomas-ville."

THOMASVILLE (Ga.,) March 20.—(Special to the Atlanta Constitution.) I am on the fringe of the edge of the crust of the McKinley boom. The transfer of that political baby—the boomlet, not the man whose name it bears—from the capital city of the Buckeye State to this famous and delightful resort has, naturally, attracted the attention of the country, and inquiries after its health are coming from all quarters. The baby has reached the age when those nursing it feel and in letting it toddle out into the sunlight, and as Thomasville sunshine and Thomasville atmosphere are excellent for infants, this particular infant has waxed strong and grown fat. Its growth has, indeed, been so rapid as to fill even an advertising agent engaged in booming a patent "baby food" with envy, and from this standpoint it begins to look as if the fat boy from Maine, THOMASVILLE (Ga.,) March 20.-(Spe gins to look as if the fat boy from Maine, big waistband and all; would have to be given very prompt and vigorous treat-ment or he will wake up to find himself

Gov. McKinley is, in the South for his health. The suggestion of any other motive for his figing visit to this section sounds very much like heresy here in Thomasville, and in polite society the conversation is confined strictly to discussions of the weather. A good deal of interest is taken in the Governor's health, but that is perhaps natural. Great editors have come from the East and the West to make personal inquiries on that score, and many who could not themselves come have sent trusted representatives. Nor is the anxiety on this score confined to members of the journalistic profession.

While it is true that the visit of Gov.

While it is true that the wisit of Gov. McKinley to the South is primarily social, the statement that it has no political significance just at this time is silly. It is unjust to those who are expected to believe it and equally unjust—probably more so—to the Governor. He is more than seven; and to say that he hasn't his eyes open and is not taking note of the situation, would be the next thing to saying that he is a political imbecile. Not even his worst enemy—Foraker not barred—ever charged him with that.

The fact is, his visit is of a twofold nature, and the opportunity of placing himself in touch with the Republican leaders of the South was not the second-ary consideration in this visit. A number of these gentlemen were seen in Atlanta, more met him in Maron, a goodly number have dropped in upon himon have communicated with him here, and if others do not call while he is in Savannah and Augusta, he will be disappointed. His plans for return embrace both of these cities, though I am told tonight that there may be a change so far as Augusta is concerned. Several prominent Alabamians are expected here temorrow and the Florida Republicans will call at Jacksonville, St. Augustine or Palm Beach, as best suits their convenience and exchequer. South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia Republicans will have an opportunity of grasping the land that may grasp the next Republican standard, and if they do their grasp will have some meaning in it.

PROTECTION THE ISSUE. PROTECTION THE ISSUE.

Gov. McKinley will not talk politics if a newspaper man is within

Gov. McKinley will not talk politics if a newspaper man is within a block's distance, and of course, he is wise; but at night, after the pickets have been thrown out around Mark Hanna's palatial cottage, he and the other nurses discuss the condition of little Miss Boomlet, and the stories which leak out indicate that they are more than satisfied with her vigor and growth. There is little else than McKinley talk among the Republicans here and it is a particularly noticeable fact that the dark borse idea is passed over without so much as even decent consideration.

Col. Hanna—he's a "colonel" in Georgia—is Gov. McKinley's right-hond man and confidential adviser. He is a great big, brainy, practical fellow who is reputed to be worth $60,000,000 and certainly has an unlimited amount of "horse" sense. The colonel occupies the envisible position of head nurse and has already been slated for the treasury portfolio by the pewspaper correspondents. He is a rare man, is Mark Hanna—an unselfish, unswerving friend, who is willing to do everything honorable to promote "Bill" McKinley, the friend of his boyhood, and who has not an atom of political ambition. It's a sort of Damon and Pythlas friendwerything honorable to promote "Bill" McKinley, the friend of his boyhood, and who has not an atom of political ambition. It's a sort of Damon and Pythias friendship and about the only thing that would make Hanna mad would be the suggestion that his aid of McKinley is based on a desire for a Cabinet place or anything else under the sun.

Col. Hanna is very positive in his views. "I regard the Governor's chances for success as excellent," said he. "The sentiment for him is very strong in every State in the Union, and while he will, of course, have opposition, I feel certain of his ultimate success. No"—in reply to a suggestion from me—"there is no chance for a dark horse this year. Nor do I think that ex-President Harrison will be a factor. Indiana may give him a complimentary vote, but that's all."

I asked him about figures. It is too early for that. The information that has come to us has been unsought, but it is none the less reliable. The reason why fearfully—in earnest these days. The past two years of Democratic administration has made them more earnestly determined than ever to have a sound man, who represents something, in the White House."

"You mean protection?"

"Yes. That, in my opinion, will be the overpowering issue in she next national campasign. The thouseands of workingmen who have been suffering since the inauguration of this Democratic lack of policy, and many of wheen were led off from the Republican party by Democratic tariff-reform promises, will come back and will vote for a candidate who stands for the prevention idea and for the party that will prevent any dilly-dallying with the tariff."

"And the financial question?"

"Oh, I do not think that will be much of an issue."

FIGHT SHY OF FINANCE.

Bugene Field and Frank Stanton, been purchasing newspapers most promiscuously, but, an reality, has landed nowhere. This being a very important factor in the newspaper world, and his presence here with Gov. McKinley indicates that he is going to be a strong factor in the pending political campaign.

THE BATTLE OF THOMASVILLE.

Mr. Kohlesat is a McKinley man. Mr. Medill may be and he may not. Mr. Lawson is not as yet here in person, but he is impending, and in this State is being as much discussed as he would be if here. He is classed as a McKinley man, and doubtless is, and while he, too, may be coming South for his health, a more interesting story is being told of his coming. The Times-Hereld is, I believe, responsible for the idea. An artist of that paper has made a "Battle of Thomasville" story and cartoon out of it, and the idea has been generally taken up. Try, however, as they may, the artists of that enterprising paper cannot hope to give to the idea the same artistic touch, the same fidelity of execution as has the artist of Brother Pruett's lively Thomasville Advertiser. THE PATTLE OF THOMASVILLE

The bottle of Thomasville is underlined:

McKinley and his forces. Hanna, bearing the dollar mark as his insignia, is manipulating the cannon which is trained on the fort and to which Kohlsaat is toting high tariff powder. Lawson is war correspondent extraordinary, and is writing his dispatches on a drum head.

Which, being interpreted—
Is taken to mean that Kohlsaat and Lawson are endeavoring to induce Col. Medill to throttle his own tariff reform proclivities, for this campaign, at least, and come to the support of the man from Ohlo. How well they have succeeded I will tell you tomorrow. The colonel unbosomed himself to me last evening and his taniff talk is of too much interest to cramp into this nearly completed dispatch. It is whispered that Mr. Kohlsaat has his eye on the Tribune, and in event of Cod. Medilli's failure to come their way on the McKinley question, the young Napoleon of Western journalism would endeavor to buy.

Napoleon of Western journalism would endeavor to buy.

An interesting rumor, but not one likely to materialize. When I suggested as much to Col. Medili today he bristled up. "Mr. Kohlsaat has made no such proposition to me"—referring to the purchase. "The Tribune," he continued, "is not for sale. I expect to own the Tribune until I am laid in my grave and then it will go to my children to flow with as they please."

And the colonel, though by no means young, is in very vigorous health.

THE M'KINLEY PLATFORM.

THE M'KINLEY PLATFORM THE M'KINLEY PLATFORM.

From a cursory view of the situation, I am certain that the MoKinley men are as well satisfied with the situation as they could hope to be at this stage of the proceedings. Being satisfied, their plan is to "lay low" a da Brer Rabbit, and they positively refuse to bite off any unnecessary trouble by talking about the platform in 1896. They speak of the record of the "grand old party" in general terms, and they will talk about the tariff; but outside of those two themes they are confining thamselves to the discussion of a subject which might, with all propriety, be left to the salaried observers of the government.

Fight shy of the silver question. That the McKinsey plan of campaign as it

THOMASVILLE (Ga.,) March 21.—(Special.) Gov. McKinley and party did not go to Florida today, as was given out they would. The Governor contracted a cold a few days ago and this morning was so indisposed that the Florida Jaunt was postponed. His physician ordered him to stay indoors today. The Governor will soon be himself again. Senator Pritchard of North Carolina arrived here yesterday and had a long con-ference with Gov. McKinley last night. Pritchard left for Washington today. A number of Alabama Republicans also had conference with the Governor Wednes Tribune.

The Chicago correspondents were thrown nto a state resembling the proverbia Tribune.

The Chicago correspondents were thrown into a state resembling the proverbial conniption fits by the discovery, yesterday, that Col. Medill and Mr. Kohlsaat had spent the entire morning driving together through the pine forests that surround Thomasville. They seemed to be possessed with great surprise that these two eminent citizens of the Windy City should have gone off together, and with an even greater degree of surprise that they should have returned as they went—sach apparantly clothed in his right mind. Whether they expected the genial and mild-mannered Kohlsaat to take the life of his venerable friend or merely to knock him down and fetch from his pocket the proprietorship of the Chicago Tribune, does not appear; but certainly one or the other was expected, and that neither materialized gave great pain to the representatives of the other newspapers printed in that eity. MR. KOHLSAAT AND THE TRIBUNE.

It is an open secret that since he left the Inter Ocean Mr. Kohlsaat has been negotiating for the control of the Tribthe Inter Ocean Mr. Kohlsaat has been negotiating for the control of the Tribune. I understand that the terms of the deal were at one time perfected and a check had passed from the hands of the would-be purchaser to the agent of the would-be purchaser to the agent of the venerable owner of the property, but at the last minute Col. Medill could not get his own consent to part with the paper which was as dear to him as one of his children. Previous to this time—last summer it was—Mr. Kohlsaat jumped from Paris to Chicago that he might make a personal reply to a telegram on the subject of this purchase, the business being of too much importance to intrust to the telegraph wires. The information cabled him at Paris was favorable, but a two-days' stay at Chicago demonstrated Col. Medill's inability to part with the property he had spent the best years of his life in building up, and Mr. Kohlsaat jumped back to Paris. Since then negotiations have been reopened, but they will amount to nothing.

So much for the rumors of newspaper sales to which the aforementioned ride gave rise. There is another very interesting rumor in connection with that ride—a rumor for which the cartoon of the battle of Thomasville furnished the basis.

It is understood that Col. Medill gave something like definite assurances that he would support Gov. McKinley's candidacy for the Republicun nomination.

WHY THE TRIBUNE IS NEEDED.

The anxiety on this scene manifested by the McKinley men was, of course, based paper in the country arraigned the McKinley tariff bill with more bitterness than did the great Republican paper of the West, the Chicago Tribune. The greed of the manufacturers which that bill represented, was the theme of Tribune leaders day after day, and the readers of that paper were kept busy wondering how McKinley and Medill could remain in the same party.

The power of The Tribune is great, not in Illinois alone, but throughout the West, and the Republican candidate who has Medill on his side stands an excellent chance of controlling the delegates from all that section. How important it was, therefore, for Col. Medill to be brought into the McKinley camp can be easily realized. Gov. McKinley realized it, Rohlsaat, Hanna, Osborne and the others closest to McKinley realized it, and, in the light of subsequent events, it seems to be pretty certain that the McKinley visit to Thomasville was timed so as to be coincident with Col. Medill's presence here.

There is every reason to believe that to Thomasville was timed so as to be coincident with Col. Medill's presence here.

There is every reason to believe that Medill has been won over—conditionally. Just before he started on that now famous ride I spent a couple of hours with the veteran editor and he expressed himself very freely on this point.

NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THAT BILL.

NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR THAT BILL.

"McKinley," he said, "pleases me personally better than any of the other possible candidates. I mean by that," he went on to say, "his personality pleases me most. He is a man of force and strength; a man of breadth and executive ability; a clean, pure man, who will make an excellent candidate if his views are all right. It is true. I have condemsed the McKindey bill, but I have never held him responsible for the enormities of that bill. He was chairman of the House committee which reported is, and it was given his name, but the bad features of the bill were put in by a majority of the committee at the instance of the manufacturers—either by the House committee or in the Senate."

"What about McKinley's candidatey?" I asked.

"If Mr. McKinley, ways to be taken as "If Mr. McKinley were to be taken as representing the McKinley bill, he would not be a strong candidate; if he is to be taken as the representative of a sensible, business tariff, he will be a strong candidate; taken as the representative of a sensible, business tariff, he will be a strong candidate."

"Do you think that, if nominated, he could be beaten under any circumstances?"

"Yes. If he were to make the race on the McKinley tariff bill and the Democrats were to nominate a moderate protectionist like Gorman, for instance, the Democrats would win."

But Col, Medill, as he explained, forgives Mr. McKinley for his connection with the McKinley bill, and is willing to take him on faith, as it were. Talking further on the tariff—it is his favorite theme—Col. Medill said:

"The funny feature of the recent Democratic defeat was that the party was beaten for a bill it never enacted into a law; I mean the Wilson bill. After the bill left the Hours, the six protectionists in the Senate tacked on so many changes that the bill was not recognizable, and yet the party was defeated because of the Wilson bill. When I mentioned Gorman as a possible candidate I did it because he was one of those six protection Democrats."

It is not at all probable that the Chicago Tribune will at once come off of its tariff-reform perch and support for the Republican nomination the man who is the chief representative of the idea it has been fighting, but that will be the ultimate result of the Me'll-Kohlsaat buggy ride.

The money question was discussed during that ride and the fact that Col. Me ing that ride and the fact that Col. Medill was satisfied on that score certainly means that Gov. McKinley has taken no stand on the silver side.

The Governor may or may not stand as represented. So far as getting from him any expression for print is concerned, no body can do that at this juncture. He has met every overture in the same calm, convincing manner—"I'm sorry, my dear fellow, but I cannot talk politics. My visit here is purely social and there is no politics in it."

However, as the Alsama Republican leaders who called on him at Mr. Harris's this afternoon brought much encouraging news, he may make exceptions of them.

Alabama, it seems, has been attracting some attention. Dr. Mosely, who is chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, has been quoted as being for Reed, and the Reed men have figured on that State in consequence. The chairman has either been misquoted or he is playing both ends of the string, for he has given the McKiney people assurances of support.

There may be a different story from Florida after this party has paid its "social" visit there.

ADDRESS EMBODYING SOME NEW AND BEAUTIFUL IDEAS.

The Wonderful Trinities; Trinity of God, Trinity of Man, Trinity of Society, Trinity of Our

WHITTIER, March 31 .- (Special Correspondence.) The meeting of the Friends yesterday afternoon was called to order by President Comn. Rev. J. H. Douglas gave a brief account of his work in all the yearly meeting of the world, fifteen in all, twelve in the United States, inin all, twelve in the United States, in-cluding California, one in Canada, and one each in London and Dublin. Mr. Doug-las has been invited to accept the posi-tion of superintendent of the evangelistic, pastoral and church extension departement in California yearly meeting. Rev. C. B. Ebey of the Free Methodist Church of Los Angeles was called to th platform and made a short speech, as also did Rev. George Willitts, pastor of the Whittier Congregational Church.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society took charge and held their annual meeting. The reports and speeches by the ladies showed well-laid plans of work the ladies showed well-laid plans of work. The society has chosen Palestine as their field. The principal speakers were: Mrs. Lizzie Townsend of Pasadena, Mrs. Hannah Pickering of Chicago, Mrs. Sarah Hussey of Indiana, Mrs. Jennie Wise Crossman of Massachusetts and Mrs. Mary E. K. Edwards of Oregon. EVENING SESSION

When the meeting was called to order it was announced that the subject to be considered was the educational department of the work. After a few brief speeches in reference to the work in this department and the condition of the Whittier College, Allen Jay was called upon to take the subscription for the purpose of furnishing free tuition for next year for Quaker children. After a few very brief remarks, he called for subscriptions in the usual Quaker manner, and in a few minutes the sum of $1900 was subscribed.

a few minutes the sum of $1900 was subscribed.

Rev. Jacob Baker then delivered an address on Christian citizenship. After a few remarks upon the wonderful trinities, the trinity of God, Father. Son and Hely Ghoat, the trinity of man, spirit, mind and body; the trinity of man, spirit, mind and body; the trinity of society, family, church and nation, and the trinity of our dag, Red, White and Blue; the red, the color of the atonement by the blood of Christ—white, the color-of purity, and blue, the color of the heavens.

He then took as his text: "And the thistle said unto the cedar, which was in Lebanon, give me thy daughter for my son to wife." A proposal of marriage is always, he said, a serious thing and deserving of carcul consideration. Caughter.) He then, in an eloquent and powerful manner, set forth that the good citizens, who are the cedars, must not unite themselves with the bad ones.

no are the thistles. After an expression the church by a rising vote in favo temperance, the meeting adjourned. SUNDAY SERVICES

This beautiful Sabbath day was given entirely to devotional services. All the churches in Whittier were filled to overflowing, to hear what the Quakers had to say, the local ministers having generously invited the visiting ministers to occupy their pulpits.

occupy their pulpits.

FRIENDS CHURCH.

At this church the morning service was conducted by Rev. Franklin Meredith and his wife, Mary Moon Meredith Mr. Meredith preached from I Kings, xviil, 42. He is perhaps the most eloquent of all the visking praschers, using brilliant figures of speech, and the purest of diction. He briefly reviewed the historical incidents in the lives of Ahab and Elijah leading up to the present time, and then drew the lesson that the church must not stop to eat and to drink with Ahab, but must go to the top of Mt. Carmel with Elijah.

Some things, he said, are absolutely wrong, and some things are relatively wrong. The church must stand against both. In case of doubt give God the benefit of the doubt. Like Elijah on the mount, with his face between his knees, they must shut out the world and be shut in with God. Then, in a series of beautiful figures, he pictured the glorious condition we should attain to, and appealed to all to come to Christ. Mrs. Meredith led in a short praise service, and the meeting was closed.

COLLEGE HALL. FRIENDS CHURCH.

At College Hall, Rev. Allen Jay of Indiana gave a sermon from the text:
"Thanks be to God which giveth us the victory through our Lord, Jesus Christ."
He preached a powerful sermon of thanksgiwing for the blessings of the yearly meeting, and encouragement to the workers for Christ.

meeting, and encouragement to the workers for Christ.

AT M. E. CHURCH.

In the Methodist Episcopal Church a very interesting and impressive service was held with the boys of the State schoof. Rev. C. C. Reynolds and Rev. Allen Jay gave addressee, and Miss Myrtle Burkin sang a beautiful solo.

In the regulat Sunday school following the lesson of the day, Mrs. Miles, formerly a teacher in Calcutta, India, gave a very interesting address on the needs of heathen children in that land.

At 11 o'clock Rev. Jacob Baker preached to a large, attentive audience from Jeremiah xxix, 11: "For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, saith the Lord; thoughts of peace and not of evil, to give you an expected end."

In an impressive, fatherly way, this aged minister clearly showed that the thoughts of God are toward sil classes and conditions of mankind, to the end that all might have pardon, peace, purity, power and eternal life in glory. He was assisted in the services by Rev. Mrs. Brown, Rev. Mr. Miles and Rev. A. C. Hazzard.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. L. Maria Dean of Iowa occupied the pulpit at the Congregational Church. Her theme was the duty of man to God. She dwelt upon the purpose of his creation and the objects for which he should live.

There remains some routine business to be transacted tomogrow, but today practically ends the first yearly meeting of the Society of Friends in California.

FIGHT SHY OF FINANCE.

They all fight shy of a discussion of the financial question. The only man whom I have succeeded in making talk at any least on this question is Col. Joseph Medill, the famous editor of the Chicago Tribune. He is an out-and-out goldbug, and expresses his views vigorously, as he does his views on all other subjects.

The Chicago editor, by the way, is a very interesting feature of this little proditical gathering. I don't mean this particular editor alone, but I use the term in a sufficiently generic sense to include three brilliant specimens of the genus.

Col. Medill is the Neetor of the trio, which includes, besides himself. Victor F. Lawson of the New-Record, and H. H. Kohlsaat, who is just now playing a successful engagement in the role of Mr. Nebody of Nowhere. Los Angeles, by request, to reopen the question of the strike, and expressed the vain hope that no "erratic bloviator" would speak to the assembly.

The bald-headed apostle of strikes was then introduced, and in the course of his address produced a copy of the Times, waich he bumptiously declared himself shie to "handle without tongs or pinchers." That the Times has handled Eugene V. Debs without gloves then became apparent to the dullest comprehension. As a cloak for his real motives of inciting strife, the speaker flung himself into a fine frenzy in which his anarchistic mouthings were punctuated by what he would call attacks upon this paper, and the stand it takes for law and order.

In the midst of his most frantle raving Debs undertood to crawl out of all responsibility connected with the strike. After he had talked himself red in the face upon the subject of his enemies, who are all those who believe in upholding the law, he proceeded to blow his own born in large and gererous toots upon the interesting thems of his own disinterestedness and self-denial. Cheered by the plaudits of his dupes in the front ranks of the audience, he piled up the evidence concerning his noble disregard of worldly advantage, and assured his hearers that nothing could persuade him to hold office. There being no audible suggestion of "sour grapes," he attacked the question of his attitude toward the judiciary powers of the land, and while endeavoring to prove that he had the highest respect for the saw and its representatives, he incidentally accused Judge Ricks of Ohio of petty larceny, and further charged Judge bankins and Woods with being "judiclas" sand-baggers and highwaymen." significantly adding that iff there were any in this sociality that the title fitted, they might make the most of it—referring to Judge Amakins and Woods with being "judiclas" sand-baggers and highwaymen." significantly adding that iff there were any in this sociality that the title fitted, they might make the most of it—referring to Judge Brown, and f

He accused the Associated Press of sitying all the reports of the striker a money consideration from the rail-ad corporations, and asserted that the uthern Pacific Railroad Company would to consent to arbitration because the mpany knew that no court could be und that would not decide in favor of e strikers, nor to an examination because the revelations thus brought into e light of day would "horrify the world." He further assured his hearers that the nited States Strike Commission fixed all the responsibility of the strike upon the sited States Strike Commission fixed all e responsibility of the strike upon the illman Company, and exonerated the R.U., and then launched into a florid scription of the destitude condition of einhabitants of the town of Pullman. He then made the rather startling astrike the strike, and said that, inture, such an evil could be averted if a people would take the railroads into eir own hands and operate them in their re way.

for an instant permit the slightest interference with its orders and regulations? A moment's reflection discloses the preposterousness of such a conception. Employees might be permitted to maintain organizations of a beneficiary character to improve the moral, social, educational and financial condition of their members, but the government would make all regulations relating to time and wages, nor would it for a moment distinguish between a scab and a union man; belonging to an organization would cut no figure at all, and, as a consequence, organizations would at onée be required to relegate all their machinery for protection to the limbo of forgotten things. As well expect cenlisted soldiers in the regular army to maintain organizations for the purpose of criticising orders of superiors, presenting grievances and proposing to strike if concessions were not granted. Indeed, under laws already in force, as interpreted by certain United States judges, it is questionable if railroad employees connected with the train service are any longer freemen, the interpretation of the law being that they are a part of the rolling stock of the corporations, held to their slaces by the force of law.

"The government, having become "a "common carrier," weuld brook no delays—and employees would not be consulted any more than soldiers in the army are consulted about their movements. 'Obedience' and 'silence' would be the watch words—and any infraction of the rules would be punished with military premptness and rigor.

"With government control of the rail-and 'silence' would be the watch words—and any infraction of the rules would be punished with military premptness and rigor.

"With government control of the railroads, contracts between the government and the employees would be based upon law, with penalties attached of more or less severity, in which the punishment of recalcitrant employees would only be considered, because, though the government might be in the wrong, there would be no process by which it could be arrested, tried and punished, the government would be king—and the maxim is 'The king can do no wrong,' only the subject, the slave, the employee—hence the proposition for the government to control the railroads becomes a species of depotism, such as applies to the control of armies.

"In the management of the railroads, the government would want about one million men. It is not to be presumed or assumed that the government would tolerate any happy-go-lucky policy relating to the required force to operate the roads. It would insist upon order.
The trains must go their ceaseless rounds, day and night. What more natural than the inauguration of a system of enlistment for a term of yearg.' during which men, while permitted to die, would not enjoy the privilege of quitting, any more than soldlers in the regular army may throw down their muskets with impunity.
Desert they might, but as desertion is a perilous business, employees once in the toils would probably prefer to serve out their time rather than be hunted down by spies and detectives governments have in their emplay.

"As to the matter of wages, if the government should purchase and control the railroads, what assurance has labor that wages would be higher that at present?
Indeed, what is there to inspire the belief that wages would not be reduced below their present averages? Manifestly, there is nothing upon which labor can hang a hope that its condition would be improved.

"The grievance committee, even if one existed, would not chirp, and the coming together of grand chiefs, a would be tolerated, Mass-meetings and wherases would avail nothing, and all that would be left for the employee would be submission and silence."

He was a man of intelligence and pluck and in high hope of again establishing himself and family comfortsbly in the world. He expected to make some money out of the tree contract, but instead of that it cost him his life and the life of one of his little ones.

Mrs. Husser is wild with grief. She has three other children besides the two who were with her yesterday when the ad accident occurred. The family are very poor. Citizens yesterday raised a purse of about $75 to help defray the funeral expenses. The bodies will be brought to Los Angeles today and interred in Evergreen Cemetery.

Clear pink and with a buggy appeared on the shore, but was apparently afraid to come to the rescue. He finally drove away in search of further assistance.

Mra. Husser all this time continued to cry for help, but the roar of the waters drowned her voice. She could see her helpless babes clinging to the rocks, but could not hear their voices or go to their add. The little girl finally, reached over the side of the boulder on which she sat and began playing with the water with her hands. Like a bird charmed by a serpent, the little one seemed to be faschmated by the ewift-rushing water, and all unconscious of her danger, she played innocently with the waves.

For fully half an hour the child splashed the water with her tiny hands, until just about sundown, when either through exhaustion or disziness from gazing into the seeking this sight, the now distracted mother gave a scream more piercing than any she had uttered before. So intense and full of agony was the cry that ewo workmen in a field some distance from the river bank heard and heeded it. They ran with all haste in the direction of the sound, and soon came in view of the terror-stricken woman and her remaining child. The men, at the risk of their own itserice, and soon came in view of the terror-stricken woman and her remaining child. The men, at the risk of their own its soon had the two castaways eafe on shore. The bodies of the father and litting girl were also recovered.

The verdict of the Coroner's jury was accidental drowning.

TUESDAY EVENING CLUB TO BE AT LA FIESTA.

The Members of it Intend Making a Grand Display and to Have Seven Tally-ho Coaches in the Procession.

PASADENA, March $1.—(Special Correspondence.) There are many expressions of disappointment on account of the failure of Pasadena to participate in the flesta, and it is said that the reputation of the town for public spirit will suffer greatly, because the prominent citizens and the clubs which have heretofore censerned themselves in public displays of any kind have held aloof from the movement, and given no aid nor encouragement to the enterprise. Aside from the opportunity that Pasadena would have had for making a showing of elegant equipages and charthat Pasadena would have had for making a showing of elegant equipages and characteristics floats, the more important fact that it is the largest town adjacent to Los Angeles, and the one that will indirectly reap the most benefit from the congregation of strangers there, will make it is said, the non-participation appear the more niggardly and inexcusable. With the single exception of the Tuesday Evening Club, no organization has made any effort in the matter. Profiting by the success of the "rainbow banquet," the Tuesday Evening Club has decided to make a rainbow display in the flesta procession, and contemplates the decoration of seven tally-ho coaches, representing the aeven prismatic colors, the occupants to be dressed in appropriate fancy costumes.

Southern California sudience than that which has a flavor of old Spain, was demonstrated by the large and enthusiastic company which assembled Saturday night in the parlors of the Carlton Hotel to listen to the Spanish music of the Arevalo Club. Three beautiful Spanish girls, and Sanas Priest, sang dreamy serenades, love songs that suggested black eyes flashing from the rebosa, and red lips transplanted from Castile, and the accompaniment of the guitar was the appropriate comploment of the music of the fair singers. Senors Aravala and Carrizosa rendered two guitar duets with great skill, and the accompaniments for the Misses Roth and Priest were turnished by the guitar club, seven members playing charles King sang "Dream One Dream" of a prequisite manner, and after the rendition of the regular programme, so great was the apthysiasm of the audience that in an exquisite manner, and after the ren-dition of the regular programme, so great was the enthusiasm of the audience that several other numbers were given, among them the ever popular "La Colonna." THE OLD "HALL LAY."

THE OLD "HALL LAY."

Two young men, respectably dressed, and of intelligent appearance, were the subject of considerable comment in the northern part of town Saturday. They worked every house along two of the main thoroughfares in a peculiar manner, and their movements were somewhat suspicious. One of the young men would enter a yard, make his way to the back door of the house, and would politely ask the person responding to his knock for an old Northern or Eastern newspaper. In the meantime, while the servant or mistress of the house was engaged with him questioning him about the issue of the paper he desired, or explaining that there was no such article to be had there, the second young man would quietly walk up to the front door. It was supposed by the person who shadowed the young men and watched their performance, that the couple were working an old "hall lay" often practiced in cities, and only the fact that the prudent householders of Pasadena keep their front doors looked, prevented the "sneaking" of any articles of value that might have otherwise been accessible on the lower flour of the house. The police were notified of the matter.

YOUTHS AND MAIDENS.

Gen. and Mrs. Wentworth of the Raymond Hotel,, gave a dance Saturday night to the debutante set of Pasadena, which was one of the prettiest: affairs of the kind in which Pasadena youths and maidens have ever been the fortunate perticipants. Over the entrance of the ballroom two tennis rackets and balls were suspended, decorated with smilax and the house colors. The room was gay with cut flowers artistically arranged, and in the dining-room a dainty collation was served, the tables being arranged in a cozy circle around the fountain, which was banked with flowers. The tables were abloom with flowers and the young people enjoyed themselves most heartily. Among those present were the Misses Hugus, Armstrong, Markham, Wagner, McClintock, Holmes, Morehouse, Emery, Kimble, Roberts, Daggett, Towne, Rand, Rowland, Stanton, Chase, Vallette, Coleman, Gardner, Conger, Randall, Meharry, Messers. SOURCE OF DANGER.

SOURCE OF DANGER. There is some severe criticism of the evening meetings of the Salvation Army at the corner of Raymond avenue and Colorado streets. The sound of the drums, tambourines and singing, combined with the noise of the cable cars, frightens many horses, and there have been narrow becapes from serious accidents. There are few passing horses that are not terrified by the uprear. Just beyond the place where the army holds its services there is an obstruction in the streets, piles of lumber and other building material occupying a portion of the readway, and horses going toward the Terminal depot, while the exercises of the army are in progress, have their fright augmented by the red lanterns placed over the obstruction in case a team should become unmanageable in passing through the crowd and confusion the driver stands an extra good chapte of having his brains dashed out and becoming an unsung martyr to a religious cause.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

The delay of the school board in calling the election to deelde the bond question has been commented on more or less for several days. That delay, as ascertained from the secretary of the board, is as distasteful to the Trustees as to the people, but it is a matter which they cannot govern, as they are obliged to await the coming of the proper blanks, in order that they may proceed in legal form. They feel, as do the citizens, the necessity of "striking while the iron is hot," and the time is short to prepare two buildings for use before the opening of the fall term of school, if the bonds are voted. There is nothing to be done but to exercise patience, so says the board, and the citizens should not let the unavoidable delay at all dampen their interest in the matter.

REDLANDS.

REDLANDS, March 31.—(Special Correspondence.) In the March 30 number of the Citrograph appears an article relating to the collection of poll-taxes in Red-tands, which is apparently misleading. The article, in its own language, states: "Poll-iands, which is apparently misleading. The article, in its dwn language, states: "Politaxes collected by the county for 1893 and 1894, 1266, amounting to $2532; city collected, in 1893 and 1894, 833, amounting to $1766; difference in favor of county over city, in two years, 383, amounting to 776."

As regards the collection of county politaxes, none are exempt, except paupers, indians and insame persons, and the territory covered by the county officers in collecting the 1266 politaxes referred to, not only included Redlands, but also Mentone. Crafton, part of Yucaipe and considerable territory on the west. On the other hand, as respects city politaxes, the National Guards, firemen and old soldiers are exempt, which makes the aggregate exempt from paying politaxes in this city about two hundred above the number exempt by the county. With these facts taken into consideration, it would seem that the amount collected by the county.

A special train from Chicago, bringing a galaxy of Santa Fe officials, stopped in Redlands Saturday long enough for the county.

Maj. Frank C. Prescott and Francis G. Wyman went to San Bernardino Saturday night, to take the degrees of Knights Templar and Knights of Maita.

GREAT ACTIVITY IN BUSINESS CIRCLES IN SANTA ANA.

Proposition to Erect a County Court-house—Grand Preparations Be-ing Made for the Odd Fellows' Celebration.

SANTA ANA, March 31,—(Special Correspondence.) Tomorrow (Monday) a large force of workmen will be given employment again on Fourth street, Letting the street in condition for the new asphaltum pavement. This work was begun last week, but came to a standstill, after only a half day's start, on account of the heavy rains making it impossible for the men to proceed. But now the street is dried off well, and another start consequently will be made.

This public-improvement spirit that has now got such a substantial hold here, has given business a new impetus. New mercantile firms are being established and the old merchants say their business is good, much better than at this same time a year ago. Santa Ana, and, in fact, all of Orange county, has evidently been at the bottom of the "hard times" and is now on the up grade. The residents see the better times ahead, and they are ganging themselves in business accordingly. With the public improvements completed that are now assured, Santa Ana is liable to add 50 per cent. to its population in the next eve years.

of Supervisors, what say you to these projects? Can we have your help in advancing them?"

THE ODD FELLOWS' CELEBRATION. The Odd Fellows of this city are making great preparations for their seventy-sixth anniversary celebration on April 26. It is expected that the celebration will be the grandest ever held in Southern California, and that the attendance will be over 2000 from the visiting lodges. A prominent member of the order received a letter from Los Angeles yesterday, in which it was stated that that city alone would send down at least 1200 delegates. From this it is expected that the attendance will easily reach 2500.

Excursion trains will be run from Los Angeles early on the morning of the date of the celebration; and will return in the evening, one of which will be held here until after the masquerage ball.

The event will undoubtely be one long to be remembered in this city, not only by the Odd Fellows, but by the public generally as well. great preparations for their seventy-sixth

The projectors of the block consent petition have not abandoned their guns. Under the auspices of the Good Templars a jubilee meeting was held at the operahouse Saturday evening, which was addressed by Maj. Scott, and on Sunday the same speaker occupied the Congregational pulpit, both morning and evening. The gist of the Saturday evening address was directed at the plea of the saloon advocates that the town needs these places for the revenue they return. Maj. Scott pointed out that at the moderate estimate of $10 per day each the fourteen saloons of Santa Monica collected tribute of over $51,000 yearly from which they returned in license fees only $4200, or less than 10 per cent.

As neither side shows signs of weakening the license question may well be retained on the list of burning issues.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

A PRIMITIVE DIET.

FRUIT AND NUTS AS THE FOOD OF THE FUTURE.

W. S. Manning, F.R.B.S., Lectures on Food Reform and Tells How the Human Race is Insulting its Stomach.

To the average individual, reared on mixed diet of cereals and mineral food, the attractions of a natural diet of fruits and nuts does not, at first glance, appeal with favor. As a consequence the attend-ance at the Church of the New Era yesterday, when W. S. Manning lectured on "Fruit as a Food for Health, and the Solution of the Social Question," was limited

Mr. Manning is a Fellow of the Royal Botanic Society, England, and is also the organizing secretary of the Natural Food Society of London and New York, which has for its object the promotion of food reform based on science. In beginning his has for its object the promotion of food reform based on science. In beginning his address he advanced the premise that suitable and proper food, prepared in a proper manner, is a question fundamental to the prosperity and social advancement of the American people, and he quoted from a number of writers in the daily and weekly press to sustain the proposition. To his mind health is a matter perfectly under our own control, and it is just as sinful to be ill as to be drunk. He took issue, however, with temperance advocates and vegetarians, whe, in adopting negative platform have "jumped from the frying pan into the fire." Vegetarians in renouncing fish, fowl and animal foods have adopted more largely bread and other farinacious foods whish are the bete noir of Mr. Manning. He gave as an instance the case of a lady in Chicago, in whose home he was a guest during the World's Fair, who was overburdened with an excess of avoirdupois, weighing 220 pounds. Acting on Mr. Manning: 3 advice she renounced the use of cereals, and in three weeks reduced her weight to 140 pounds, and that, too, without her general health suffering in any way.

"If the theory of natural food which we nong's advice she renounced the use of cereais, and in three weeks reduced her weight to 140 pounds, and that, too, without her general health suffering in any way.

"If the theory of natural food which we advocate is correct," said Mr. Manning, "then California will feeelve greater wealth for her fruits than ever she did for her gold mines. It has been said that the social question is but a stomach question, and the one that it behooves every one to consider is how to get a working hypothesis which will answer all conditions. It must be of a comprehensive character, embracing the allied questions of fresh air, sanitation, etc., and then it will be found to solve the riddle puzzīng so many minds. "Sir Isaac Newton and Darwin both discovered a law which revolutionized the world of thought, and Dr. Densmore of New York by accident stumbled across a discovery having within it greater possibilities for the advancement and elevation of mankind than either the discoveries of Newton or Darwin, and the question must not be treated sentimentally as such questions are oft times treated. It will take long years to apply it in all its fullness. Only as a man gets his digestive organs restored to a natural condition can a matural mode of living be adepted. You will, perhaps, think none the less of the underlying principles when I say that there are so many in a pathological state, with crippled stomachs, that a perfectly natural food would not suffice them. When we are subjected to the unnatural competition of today, working as many as twelve hours, it will not do to adopt an ideal system. But even now we believe a compromise may be effected. By throwing out from our diet any cereals we can lay a foundation for our better health and greater happiness, and which will result in immense benefit to the next generation. The cereals are neither attractive to the eye or the palate. Many centuries ago—in the dim past—man existed, as every handbook on anthropology tells us, on fruit and nuts. In proportion as the natural diet was fo developed.

"Man is a frugivorous animal and the canine teeth alluded to by some medical men are peculiar to the long-armed apes which, while fruit-eaters, are the strongest and bravest of the lower kingdom. Chemistry, too, tells us that cereals must after being received into the stomach, be reduced to glucose, or fruit sugar, before being assimilated, but by the adoption of natural food this heavy and unnecessary strain may be avoided. Then they contain too much lime in the shape of salts of lime which induce heart disease and gradual ossification of all the tissues. Physiology tells us that they are not fully digested in the main stomach, but pass into the intestines, thus putting the various organs of the body to unnatural strain, which reacts unfavorably upon the entire system.

"Fruit, on the other hand, contains the proper proportions of carbon and nitrogen and by partaking of it the digestion is so strengthened that very soon nuts may be used with perfect freedom and an enjoyment fully appreciated by the refined palate."

Mr. Manning concluded his address by stating that with the adoption of fruit and nuts as the staple article of food the land question would, in a large measure, be settled, albeit he did not explain how, and other social problems be in a fair way of settlement.

That's what the human race is doing — particularly the American part of it.

There are a few left who are satisfied with ancient history. But most people are ready to apply modern progress and common-sense to the treatment of the human stomach—are organ that demands its rights whether or no; that resents the insults of worn-out methods

There was once a prejudice against Cottonseed oil. But people who are alive, who investigate, who have no bigotry in their composition, have found that pure, refined cotton-seed oil combined with selected beef suet is a better article in every conceivable way than hog's lard. And so they wisely use it for cooking—and are correspondingly healthy and happy. The sales of COTTOLENE are enormous and constantly increasing; a proof that it is appreciated by appreciative persons.
